2. ABOUT THE AIRLANGGA UNIVERSITY

Named after the famous King Airlangga who ruled the eastern part of Indonesia archipelagoes, Universitas Airlangga (Unair) is one of the oldest public university in Indonesia which officially established in November 10th 1954 as a well-known medical school and school of dentistry. It expanded and turned out to be one of the biggest best universities in Indonesia with three main campuses which reside in Surabaya, East Java, a new campus in Banyuwangi, and many more. Universitas Airlangga hosts 14 faculties and 1 Postgraduate Program with more than 35,000 students (during the 2015-2016 academic year) and at least 1.522 faculty members. With great facilities and lecturers, including all the hospitals and medical institutes, Universitas Airlangga have long been considered as one of the Top 5 universities in Indonesia and ranked 701-750 in QS World University Rankings.

3. ABOUT THE EVENT

3.1 OVERVIEW

The Airlangga ASEAN+3 Youth Conference and Cultural Program 2017 is one of the international activity which is held by Universitas Airlangga to gather all delegates around ASEAN and the other three partnership country particularly Japan, Republic of South Korea and China. This activity is conducted as part of the ASEAN+3 Leadership and Cultural Summit which will be held in Universitas Airlangga as the host university of this programme.

The activity is in line with the one of the ASEAN's over-arching objectives which is to promote ASEAN awareness and distributing ASEAN values amongst the youth through cooperation among students and scholars in a particular way that encourages friendship both for the local delegates and delegates come from outside Indonesia as well as the ASEAN community. Creating this Airlangga ASEAN+3 Youth Conference and Cultural Program 2017 is also giving a huge opportunity for students and scholars to cooperate and discuss together about international and regional issue that is needed to be solved. It is also a strategy using education as a mutual bridge in building up a strong bond among delegates across nations. Besides, we believe that diversity must be seen as a huge opportunity for us to grow and develop for the better life of ASEAN. Thus, by creating this activity as part of the ASEAN+3 Leadership and Cultural Summit, we would like to give you a place in uniting all those diversity to be one perspective, one will and one interest for the sake of the future of Southeast Asia nations.

The forum will be started in the second day of the summit where the delegates will be divided into several groups after the first presentation session is over. This group will be divided based on the subtopic that they have been chosen in writing their papers. Subsequently, the forum would conclude with a joint statement which contain various recommendations on key issues affecting the region.

3.2 OBJECTIVES

1. To provide a huge opportunity for the students and scholars among ASEAN+3 to express their concerns for the region.
2. To open up a new platform for the students and scholars in ASEAN+3 countries in responding the current issues happening in the region using their perspectives which are going to benefit the communities, countries and the region as a whole.
3. To improve the analytical, public-speaking, and team-work skill for the delegates from ASEAN+3 countries through an integrated sub activities that give them a wide opportunity to engage the diversity among them.
4. To create networks of friendship among the delegates which could improve the cooperation of students and scholars in ASEAN+3.
